Miss Jessie I. Joynt Weds W. C. Armstrong

Rev. Norman Coll Officiates
At Ceremony in Parkdale United.

Parkdale United church was the scene of an interesting and charming wedding ceremony on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, when Jessie Isobel, youngest daughter of Mrs. and the late John Joynt, was united in marriage to William Carman Armstrong of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong of Navan, Ont.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Norman Coll, officiated, and the wedding music was impressively played by Miss Lillian Revill, A.L.C.M., L.Mus., who presided at the organ. As the bride entered the church accompanied by her brother, Mr. George A. Joynt, who later gave her in marriage, the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played and during the signing of the register, Miss Flora Eadie sang All Joy Be Thine, in sweet voice. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was contributed by the organist at the conclusion of the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Rita Proudman as bridesmaid, Mr. Clarke Armstrong, a brother of the groom, was groomsmen, and those who attended as ushers were Mr. Russell Joynt, a brother of the bride, Mr. David Stewart, Mr. George Berndt and Mr. James Godwin.

The bride was winsome in her gown of white georgette and lace, effectively combined, and she wore a veil of white tulle arranged on the head in cap effect and adorned with a circlet of orange blossoms. A bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern was carried.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of beige lace and a black velvet turban. She carried roses.

For the ceremony and the reception later at the home of the bride's mother, 129 Preston street, the out-of-town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong of Navan, Ont., and his sisters, the Misses Ada and Muriel Armstrong; Miss Mary MacIntosh of Finch, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. John Joynt of Bancroft, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will take up residence on Caroline avenue.

Also for the many calls and cards expressing your care and concern during Jessie's illness. We are truly blessed.

Please everyone accept this as our personal "Thank You." We love you.

Jessie and Bill Armstrong

I am always amazed by the way that humans can be led or affected by people that they don't know or have barely even met. The way people live their lives as they think God would want them to live it, is a scenario that I could never understand or appreciate.

That is until I met Jessie and Bill Armstrong.

I was a member of St. James in the middle 1980's. I had slowly and carefully worked myself into a situation that had me right on the verge of being part of the establishment. I was in 1988, in what I would call a pretender to management. Sometimes a parish council attendee and every Sunday I was a sidesman who greeted people when they arrived, collected and counted the offering. I was also getting involved with the creation of the weekly bulletin.

I was enjoying the fellowship at St. James but admittedly was in crisis. After many years of giving I had finally got myself in a position where every time I went to church, my offering at the time was reasonable and acceptable. I could not however cover the Sundays I was not in attendance. It was beginning to cause me grief= I was always feeling ashamed and unworthy. Then a series of events occurred that changed everything.

Bill and Jessie Armstrong had been regulars in church as long as I could remember.

They would sit anywhere if need be but their favorite spot seemed to be on the south side of the church; 3rd pew from the back. More often than naught they would sit near the wall. Jessie right up against the wall with Bill sitting right beside her; shoulder to shoulder.

In 1988 they stopped coming to church. After several weeks the reason was finally provided. Jessie was sick-VERY SICK! The rumor was that she was dying. Bill would not come without the love of his life and stayed home to care for her.

After several weeks without them I was standing near the back where I usually stand just before the service started. Strangely I heard a knock at our door. Quite unusual as the door at that time was never locked. Someone must have clicked the button to lock it and when the door closed it was locked.

Standing in the door way was Bill Armstrong. He was dressed to the hilt. Sports jacket, white shirt and tie, his best dress pants and shoes. Completely dressed in his finest for church. That whole generation was like that. You dress up to go to church, even if you were only there for a few minutes. My God did he come to let us know that Jessie had passed away? Before I could think or ignore anything more he stated, "I can't stay! I have to get back to look after Jessie!" But we could not go any further until we gave our envelopes and brought our donations up to date. As he told me that he put 8 church envelopes into my hand. Each with the same size cheque he and his wife always gave as an offering. They had covered their times absent from the church. Then, in a second, he was gone back to Jessie.

I felt terrible! I couldn't get through a couple of weeks and had no emergency. In Bill's case, Jessie was dying and they still fulfilled their obligation. That was commitment.

I wish I could say that from that time forward I covered all the Sundays even though I was not there some of the times. I cannot! Making a commitment like that cannot be done on a whim, a bet or a feeling of shame. It takes preparation and planning.

Jessie passed away in November of 1988. We did not see much of Bill after that. He would come occasionally but it was rare. Bill passed away on January 6, 1997 and went to be with the love of his life. Their two boys, Brian and David, were a wonderful treat for them and must have given them much pleasure to see them grow into honorable manhood. Him and Jessie left behind six grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

At the end of 1988 I changed something in my commitment to donate every Sunday. I stopped planning for weekly donations and started to plan and prepare for the entire year. I would pick a sum that I would commit to for the entire year. I would attempt to pay by the month but the yearly amount was the figure I was determined to reach. If I could not do it some month I had the rest of the year to get back on budget. This immediately took the pressure and the stress out of the whole procedure. Since January 1 1989, I can honestly say that I have covered every Sunday's offering-even the Sundays when I was not in church.

Sincere thank you to Bill and Jessie Armstrong. They showed me what I was missing or doing wrong. There was no lecture, sermon or condemnation from them. They simply didn't even know my name. They just went about their business and done what they believed God expected of them. They had no idea that as they did so a young man was watching and he was taking notes. It is amazing how people just living their lives, can dramatically affect other people close to them.

I have had other encounters with people that changed my view of the world based on the way they lived their lives but Jessie and Bill were the first ones. I sometimes go to the church to pick something up or drop something off. I am in the building about 30 or 40 seconds.

Every once in a while as I am leaving to go, I will scan my eyes over the south side of the church. I will concentrate on the 3rd last pew from the back-Jessie and Bill's pew. I can still see them there. I realize I am only remembering. I am not delusional but sometimes they look so real I can feel that I can walk over and talk with them. I don't of course. But as I walk out of the church and close the door, I have a smile on my face and this thought on my mind: The church is in good hands!

God Bless and keep you Jessie and Bill. Thank you so much!

Remembering Evelyn by son Glenn Clark

Evelyn was born at the Cottage Hospital, Pembroke, Ontario on August 25, 1920. She was raised at the railway section house in the village of Alice, Ontario. In 1932, she contracted typhoid fever and spent a month in the hospital. In the summer of 1935, her family moved to the 'Murphy house' on Billings Avenue next to the railway tracks near Billings Bridge. She attended the High School of Commerce. In 1938, the family purchased a house at 276 Pleasant Park Road (then Stanley Avenue). Following graduation, during World War II, she worked in the accounting department at Zeller's on Sparks Street. After the war, she worked in a similar job at the Civic Hospital. She met the love of her life, Fred George Clark at a card party across the street at the Rostetter house, where Art and Thelma Clark lived with Thelma's parents. Fred and Evelyn married on June 3, 1950 at Southminster United Church. They were blessed with two sons, Warren in 1952 and Glenn in 1955. They built a house on the Metcalfe Road (now Bank Street) in Blossom Park and moved in December 1954, where Fred and Evelyn would spend the rest of their lives. Shortly after, they joined St. James Leitrim where Glenn was baptized with cousin Pat Clark in June 1955. Evelyn was greatly involved with the church, being a member of the Ladies Guild for decades, a founding member of the Altar Guild, church treasurer and auditor when Beth Kelly was treasurer. Evelyn worked seasonally at the Canada Revenue Agency processing income tax returns from the end of the 1960s until her retirement in the early 1980s. She enjoyed travelling with Fred and they would a few weeks each winter in Florida until Fred's passing in 1992. Slowly Alzheimer's set in but she retained her gentle disposition until the end. Always a loving Mom, she also loved to experiment in the kitchen and she had a wide repertoire of favourite recipes, which son Glenn still has access to. She loved her church and attended St. James as long as she was able. She broke her hip on Easter Saturday 2009 but recovered but other health issues set in. She passed on June 15, 2011 and is buried with her husband at Capital Memorial Gardens, Prince of Wales Drive.

A Tribute to Evelyn Grace Clark

By her son Glenn

June 18, 2011

I Love you Mom

Evelyn Grace Haas was born in Pembroke at the Cottage Hospital on August 25, 1920. Her parents were Henry Albert Haas and Emma Regina Radke. She grew up in the village of Alice 10 miles west of Pembroke, right next to the railway tracks in the clapboard railway Section House. There was no electricity, no indoor plumbing and no running water but there was a phonograph, a crystal radio and lots and lots of mice. So started a lifelong fear of mice. She chummed around with her good friend Doris Budd later Powell who lived down the tracks at the railway station and like all kids, they occasionally got into mischief. I chuckled the day I discovered the story on the Internet of Doris and Mom getting into the dandelion wine and getting caught by the local minister. She attended a one room schoolhouse that still stands as a private residence. The family attended the Evangelical church and it also stands as a private residence. A few years ago, I kidded her about buying the church and returning to her roots when it was up for sale. She was also close to her greater family and she developed a special lifelong friendship with her cousin Laura Radke, later Sutherland. The Depression were tough times but Evelyn's Pop worked for the railway and the family never suffered. Her brother Les arrived in December 1931 but when she contracted typhoid shortly afterwards, she spent a month in the hospital to protect the baby.

When it was time to go to high school, Mom was going to stay with Grandma Hass in Pembroke. Instead, an opportunity arose to transfer to Ottawa and the family moved to Rideau Park near Billings Bridge in the summer of 1935. Mom went to the High School of Commerce, which was a major adjustment for a German country girl who still spoke 'dees, dose and dem instead of these, those and them'. When she graduated at the start of the war, it was difficult for people with a German surname to get a job but she was hired by Zellers on Sparks Street. In the summer, she would holiday in Pembroke with her special aunts and uncles, Arnold and Mabel Radke and Harry and Lydia Melton. She often commented how good they were to her on those visits. Following the war, she worked in the Accounting Department at the Ottawa Civic Hospital.

One day while at home, she was invited across the street to play cards by Art and Thelma Clark and she was introduced to Art's brother, Fred. They soon fell in love and married on June 3, 1950 at Southminster United Church. She recounted to me so many times what a good man Fred was and they shared almost 42 happy years together. He was also a good father.

Mom raised two sons, Warren and myself and she was the traditional housewife, fussing over her family and making sure everybody was fed, clothed and clean. She was truly the loving mother, always there to help. It was a happy home to grow up in. She loved to experiment in the kitchen and she loved to entertain. She was dedicated to her work in the church and set a wonderful example to us of the importance of community service and God. She loved little St. James and spoke of going to church to the very end. She made sacrifices for her family as well, as she was an excellent drawer and she always wanted to draw the old Section House. Something that time never allowed. She also joked about being outnumbered by the men in the house. How unfair!

In later years, she worked part time processing income tax returns and this helped buy those special extras for the home.

She always took pride in her appearance and her home as well as her family. She loved her hats and often commented that she was the only one wearing one. It seemed to be a point of pride that she was a little different in this regard. She also liked nice clothes and particularly those with a leopard pattern and she had many pieces including a winter coat. But she drew the line at underwear. I pointed out leopard pattern underwear on at least one occasion while shopping and she scoffed at the idea. We laughed.

She enjoyed traveling, and going out for dinner with Dad and a wide group of friends. The parties at Marg and PJ Bernard's house were always memorable and she thought that Marg was a wonderful hostess. Then there were the card parties. Whether it was cribbage with Art and Laura Sutherland or 45's with Jack and Velma Campbell, there was always fun and laughter. In more recent years, she was grateful for all the birthday and Christmas parties put on by Warren and Joyce. Some of those were for milestone occasions and she loved being the centre of attention and visiting with so many old friends and relatives. Thank you Warren and Joyce.

It was a great loss when Fred died suddenly in 1992. It was a big blow when her best friend, Dorothy Clifford, passed away two years later.

With doctor's help, she soldiered on and we were able to share countless trips and nights out with friends Judith Daly and Estelle Paul and others despite the increasing affects of Alzheimer's Disease. She also enjoyed many nights out with her sister-in-law Beverly Clark and I am so thankful for her kindness to Mom. Her countless letters to Mom in the last year or two were also thoughtful and I have kept every one. On our trip to Prince Edward Island in 1996, she was known as Mrs. Raccoon Eyes when she stumbled over a short post, banged the bridge of her nose and ended up with two black eyes for the balance of the trip.

Then there were her little pleasures. That glass of wine. May I have a little more? The morning cup of coffee, Chocolate cake and Ice Cream. I introduced her to Ice Cappuccinos and she would suck them down in no time. She loved going to her hair dresser and having the ladies fuss over her. Then it was, "Let's go out for dinner". She couldn't go out for dinner often enough. She loved red roses especially when they were from Dad. It was a reminder of their love for each other. Raymond Burr was one of her favourite actors and we were almost through the 5th season of Perry Mason on DVD. I didn't mind. I fondly remembered the show when I was a child as well. She loved reading passages from the Bible and it provided her great comfort. She was very social, chatty and loved to people watch with the occasional inappropriate comment. Shsssh Mom!

All through the years, her sweet personality shone through and this continued to her very last days. I often came home from work with Mom rocking in her favourite chair and chatting with her caregiver with a gentle smile on her face. These ladies were saints and I am so thankful that our medical system made them available to us.

The last year was a difficult one for both of us when a chronic condition set in and her strength faltered. However, it was also a special one. In the last year, we shared more hugs and kisses than in all the previous years combined. She taught me to be a better person and more able to share affection.

To the very end, she wanted to be the perfect hostess, asking her caregiver to stay for supper or wanting lunch or a drink made for them.

I am going to miss her terribly and I have one last thing to say. Mom, I love you and I thank you for everything that you have done for me.

Note – Mom's maiden name changed slightly over the years. She was born a Hass as recorded on her birth certificate but at some point in the 1930s it was changed to Haas. This appears to have been the result of a misinterpretation of the handwriting on her father's baptismal certificate that had been requested by his employer, Canadian National Railways. The error was never corrected.

Frederick 'Fred' George Clark (1917-1992)

- Husband of Evelyn Clark, father of Warren and Glenn Clark
- He was a St. James Warden in the 1960s and 1970s

CLARK, Fred

Remembering Fred by son Glenn

Fred was born on March 29, 1917 in Ottawa. He was raised on his parent's market garden at 344 Billings Avenue, where there was a bank of greenhouses. The original house has been replaced with a pink mansion. He attended Billings Bridge Public School and his education ended following Grade 10. His parents met at Trinity Anglican Church and they were founding members of St. Thomas the Apostle Anglican Church. Prior to World War II, Fred worked at Coulter's Drug Store at 1090 Bank Street. He volunteered for military service during the war but did not serve overseas. He achieved the rank of Sergeant before being discharged in 1946. He immediately became employed by Canadian National Live Stock Records, 66 Queen Street, where he rose to the position of Director (General Manager) in 1969. He spearheaded the installation of first electronic record keeping in 1954 and led a move of the business to 2417 Holly Lane in 1969. He was also involved with implementation of the first computer system in 1973. He retired in 1984.

He married Evelyn Grace Haas on June 3, 1950 at Southminster United Church. This was Fred's second marriage, having been previously married in 1942 and divorced in 1946. Fred and Evelyn were blessed with two sons, Warren (1952) and Glenn (1955). They built a house on Bank Street in Blossom Park and moved in December 1954. They soon joined St. James Leitrim and became actively involved in the church. He was a warden for several years and was involved in the major interior renovation of the church that was completed for the church's 120th anniversary in 1973.

Following retirement, Fred was involved with gardening, travelling and social activities. Fred was a gentle, jovial man, always with a story to tell or a bad joke. He had many friends. Fred suffered from diabetes for many years but this did not stop him from active life. Fred's last major project at St. James was to assist his son Warren, when the church foundation was dug up and resealed in 1991. Fred passed suddenly on May 18, 1992 at home.

A new brick farm house was built before they moved in using the timbers from the previous house that needed to be shortened.
- The Leitrim farm switched from market gardening to a Jersey dairy operation, which continued until about 1970. Two sons, Ron and Doug assisted in the farm operation, taking over following Harold's 1962 death. The land is still crop farmed by grandson, Robert Clark.

The following obituary appeared in The Ottawa Journal. David Cowan died on April 1, 1887.

Mr. David Cowan, Senr., Enters into rest this morning.

In another column appears the announcement of the death of Mr. David Cowan, Sr., which occurred at his residence in Gloucester Township at two o'clock this morning.

Mr. Cowan was born in county Leitrim, Ireland, his father being Mr. Richard Cowan, a gentleman farmer of that county. He married in 1827, Miss Margaret Mitchell, of the same county, and emigrated to this country in 1837, being accompanied by his wife and two children. He settled in Gloucester Township, where he acquired a large amount of land, some 600 acres in all, on which he spent the remaining portion of his days.

These lots are well known as the Cowan settlement and on the one at present occupied by his son, Henry, the hamlet of Leitrim has sprung up. The church and burying ground of this hamlet were the gift of Mr. Cowan. Mrs. Cowan does not survive her husband, having died about seven years ago. He leaves a family of four sons and two daughters, all comfortably settled.

The deceased was a second cousin of County Treasurer, Wm. Cowan, and a member of the largest family connection in the counties of Carleton and Russell. His death, which occurred after a long and painful illness, borne with great cheerfulness and patience, will be deeply regretted throughout the county.

A Remembrance of the Life of Garry Earl Cutts

April 27, 1944-July 26, 2021

Garry was one of a kind. His friendships often could be measured in decades. He had an infectious smile, loved to laugh and he could really spin a tale, sometimes with colourful language. He could never help others enough. If a task needed to be done, Garry was always there. He loved his friends and his friends loved Garry.

Garry was born on April 27, 1944, to Walter Cutts and Florence Clark. His great grandfather, Timothy Cutts had arrived in Ottawa in the early 1860s from Royston, Yorkshire, England, and he married Jane Birtch soon after. The Birtch family had been one of Ottawa's earliest pioneers, arriving in 1819 and settling in Richmond. Robert Birtch had been a veteran of the War of 1812 and had originated from Roscrea, Tipperary, Ireland. The Clarks had a mysterious background finally revealed recently by DNA. They had come from Bath, Somerset, England and had travelled from Liverpool and settled in Ottawa in 1873. The family had lived on Echo Drive in Old Ottawa East for many years.

Garry grew up in Ellwood, which was located along Bank Street south of Walkley Road. He attended Ellwood Public School (Gloucester School Section 3), the same school that his father and grandfather had attended. He finished his elementary school career at Charles H. Hulse Public School. He then attended Ottawa Technical High School (Tech).

His family established a garage known as Cutts Motors at 1242 Bank Street, which moved to 1335 Bank Street just south of Billings Bridge in 1964. Garry eventually became co-owner until his retirement in 2003. Cutts Motors had been in business for more than 50 years. As a result, Garry had become very well known in the community, his many happy customers.

Garry's first wife was Connie Towell, who regrettably passed at a young age. But Garry was resilient, and he found a new love of his life, Linda Willson who he had known for many years. They married in 2012 and built a life together at their home on Athans Avenue where Garry tended his prized tomato plants, begonias and his 'cash crop'.

Garry's retirement were years of adventure. He could then spend all his time with family and friends, golfing, fishing, boating, travelling the countryside or just sharing a meal. The Cutts home was always open to family and friends, and you were always made to feel welcome there.

Garry also loved politics, country music, sports (he had colourful names for his 'favourite' players) and had developed a secret passion for Hallmark Christmas movies during the Covid lockdown. Yes, Garry had a masculine but jovial exterior, but he also had a soft romantic heart.

One of Garry's happiest experiences was when he found his sister, Dorothy Atkins, who had been given up for adoption at birth and was discovered by DNA 78 years later. He was so proud of his new-found sister, a relationship now sadly cut short.

All who knew Garry will miss him. He was a man who lived life to the fullest and shared generously. Farewell dear friend Garry. Until we meet again.

Garry is survived by wife Linda, brother Merrill (Johanna), sister Dorothy Atkins (Paul) and others. Also, by nephews John Cutts (Sarah), their daughter Rae and Mark Cutts (Kristin), their daughters Jade and Eve, granddaughter McKenna Willson and Garry's beloved kitty Mittzzie.

Anne Gregory's Eulogy

June 8, 2012

By Glenn Clark

I first offer my sympathies to Carole and Ken, Paula and Tom and their families.

Our little community at St. James claimed Anne as one of our own over a period of time. It all started with her Dad, Allan who came quietly to become a regular several years ago. He was a gentle man and seemed to be lonely after the loss of his wife. Anne would accompany him to St. James on the odd occasion. Because of this perceived loneliness, we started the Lunch Club. We encouraged Allan and a few other older parishioners to come out for lunch once a month. It is something we still do today. We slowly grew to know Anne especially as Allan's health declined. She needed to let us know how Allan was doing and I guess she just wanted to talk to somebody who cared. When Anne took over Allan's condo, she became friends with Ron and Clara Stuart and Vera Guy and Anne became a regular at St. James.

As I got to know Anne, it became clear that she had volunteered with other organizations in the past, at Trinity Anglican Church and the Billings Estate Museum amongst others. She soon joined Parish Council and became the second Auditor, helped form the Cemetery Board and acted as telephone secretary not only for the church but also for the Gloucester Historical Society. She loved this last task and she often spoke of pleasant conversations that she had had.

Anne loved art and this was very apparent after visiting her apartment earlier this year. She spoke of her involvement with Art Shows and because of this she invited various craft vendors to our Annual Yard Sale a couple of years ago. It rained, of course. She was beaming when two silver chalices that she had chosen in memory of Allan were dedicated and she was so proud of the bird bath that she placed in the church garden. A magnolia also planted in memory of Allan flowered magnificently this spring as we knew Anne's time was short. Oh, how we wish Anne was there. Anne was also involved with our stained glass window project and one of the photos here today show her proudly standing in front of the window with her signature gentle smile.

Anne became my confidante as the stress involved with my mother's declining health mounted. She sympathetically and patiently listened to my troubles. Our conversations originally intended to last only 5 minutes would extend to an hour or two. We would talk about almost anything. She loved helping people anyway she could. And when it became impossible for me to carry on as church warden, she volunteered without reservation. I was so relieved and thankful. Anne then moved forward to put her personal stamp on her new position, something that I fully supported from behind the scenes. New blood brings often badly needed new ideas. And so, because of Anne, St. James participated in Doors Open and put together a parish photo directory for the first time. Just this past weekend, we again participated in Doors Open and Anne was very much on our minds. It was part of her legacy. It was something that she thought we could not do again because of her health problems and she was delighted when I told her that we would open again.

Anne of course had her foibles like the rest of us. She had strong principles and strong opinions and she voiced them usually privately. I chuckled when sister Carole spoke of having her clothes thrown out the window because she had not cleaned their shared room fast enough. Mmmmm. That story reminded me of all those conversations of keeping the church refrigerator clean or else, out it all goes. She was right, of course. And Anne did have a sense of humour. Oh how I remember her perfectly timed off hand response to 19th century wedding vows spoken with great vigour by fellow warden, Victor Wootton during a staged wedding re-enactment. It was priceless. Here is a picture from that day that includes Anne dressed impeccably in period costume. This is Anne in her glory.

Since I have known her, Anne's health was never great. She suffered repeatedly from respiratory problems and she was very susceptible to every virus going around. We worried about each health concern. And as these respiratory problems got worse in the last year, we worried more. We were shocked by her diagnosis and astonished by Anne's optimism. She wanted to keep everybody around her as upbeat as possible. She often said to me: "This will soon pass" as she faced each new health problem.

Anne, you have had a bigger impact on St. James than you realize. I will miss our conversations. I will miss you as confidante. I will miss you as a friend. I will miss you, just for being you.

Your struggles are over and you are now with God, and your parents. Your work is complete. Rest in Peace, Anne.

Canon inspired many to enter priesthood

BY BOB HARVEY

Rev. Frank Lawler, one of the Ottawa Valley's best-loved Anglican priests, inspired many young men to consider entering the priesthood.

Canon Lawler, 82, died Jan. 7 in White Rock, B.C., where he and his wife, Elizabeth, were wintering.

Rev. Frank Kirby, of St. Barnabas Church in Ottawa, said Canon Lawler was his parish priest in Hawkesbury when he was in early adulthood, and influenced him and others to enter the priesthood.

"He had a great love for people, and was very good at reaching out to everyone.

"And he had a great gift for names; he could remember the names of people he had met years before," said Rev. Kirby.

He said because Canon Lawler was fluently bilingual, he pioneered good ecumenical relations with franco-phone clergy in Hawkesbury at a time when ecumenism was just beginning to grow in Canada.

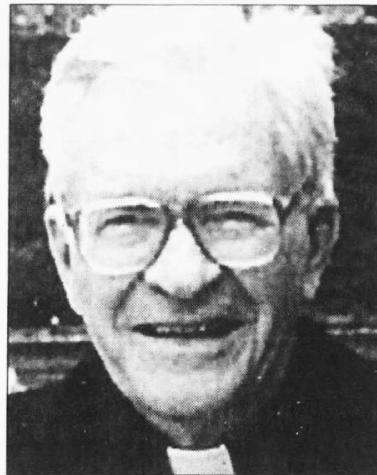

Funeral services for him were held in South Surrey, B.C., yesterday. A memorial service for him will be held at Ottawa's Christ Church Cathedral in April.

He was born in Montreal, and worked as an elementary school teacher there before entering the Anglican priesthood in the diocese of Montreal in 1949.

However, he spent the majority of his church career in the diocese of Ottawa, serving parishes in Quyon, Que., as well as Ottawa, Vanier, Hawkesbury, and Navan.

He retired from full-time service in 1984, but continued working part time, first at St. Margaret's in Vanier, and then at St. James Anglican Church in Leitrim until 1993.

"He was very dynamic, he seemed to know millions of people. He did some

Rev. Frank Lawler had a great love for people, and a great memory for names of people he had met years before.

inspiring work to get people to come back to church," said Rocco Lombardo, a former people's warden at St. James.

Canon Lawler also served in the Canadian Army Reserves as a padre and retired as a major in 1985.

His brother-in-law, retired Maj. - Gen. Jim Hanna, said Canon Lawler was "one of those people who touched everybody.

"He could come into a neighbourhood we had lived in for a year, go for a walk, and come back knowing things about the neighbourhood that we didn't."

Canon Lawler is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, son Frank Andrew, of Surrey, B.C., his brother Jim, nieces Joanne, Judy and Wendy, nephews James, Peter and Bruce, sister-in-law Barbara Doré, Maj.-Gen. Hanna, and their families.

He was pre-deceased by sisters Lorna, Patricia and Joan, and brother Bob.

Rev. Canon Frank Roberts LAWLER

Of Ottawa. Suddenly on January 7, 2001, in Surrey, BC, while wintering in White Rock. Born in Montreal in 1918, fluent in both French and English, Frank embraced bilingualism and biculturalism long before the terms entered the Canadian lexicon. Anglican priest, teacher and proud Canadian, he touched many lives with his warmth, spirituality, openness and optimism. He studied at Macdonald College and the Montreal Diocesan Theological College (both affiliated with McGill University), earning degrees in French Language and Literature, Education, and Theology. Joining the Canadian Army reserves before the end of World War II, he served as a chaplain for many years. The majority of his career in the Church was within the Diocese of Ottawa, where his parishes included Quyon, Quebec; St. John's, Ottawa; St. Margaret's, Vanier; Holy Trinity, Hawkesbury; St. Mary's, Navan and St. James, Leitrim. Prior to retirement, he was honoured for his years of service to the diocese by being made the Canon of St. Andrew at Christ Church Cathedral in Ottawa. Well-loved by parishioners and the community at large wherever he lived and served, he will be sorely missed. Survivors include his wife Elizabeth and their son Frank Andrew, his brother Jim, his nieces Joanne, Judy and Wendy, his nephews James, Peter and Bruce, sister-in-law Barbara Doré, brother-in-law Jim Hanna, and their families. Predeceased by sisters Lorna, Patricia and Joan, and brother Bob. A service for west coast family and friends will be held at St. Mark's Anglican Church, 12953 20th Avenue, South Surrey, BC, on Tuesday, January 16th at 1:00 p.m. The family would like to thank the caring staff at the Ottawa Civic Hospital and Peace Arch Hospital for their kindness and support. A Memorial Service will also be held in Ottawa in April 2001. Details will be posted in the obituary sections of the Ottawa Citizen, Montreal Gazette and Globe and Mail by the end of March. - Wife of William Robinson, mother of Joseph Robinson.

Late Mrs. Robinson.

At the age of 74 years, Mrs. Mary Jane Robinson, Relict of the late William Robinson, died on Saturday at her home at Leitrim, following an illness of nine days. The funeral takes place Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock to Wood's cemetery. Born in Ireland, the late Mrs. Robinson came here when quite young and had since resided here. - The Thomas Robinson farm was located on the west side of Bank Street south of Miikana Road and featured a stone house. The Robinson family owned this farm from 1910 until 1957. An additional 50 acres immediately to the south was originally owned by Thomas Henry Robinson Sr. (1837-1922) and Mary née McMenemy (1850-1938) (married May 28, 1872) from 1875 and remained in family ownership until 1951.
- Thomas served as a Warden at St. James during the late 1930s.

The body is resting at the Fred N. Garret funeral home, 584 Somerset Street West from where the funeral will be held Wednesday at 1.30 p.m. to St. James Anglican Church, Leitrim at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Greeley Anglican Cemetery.

Thomas Henry Robinson Sr. (1837-1922)

- Husband of Mary Robinson, father of Thomas Henry Robinson, son of William Sr. & Margaret Robinson. Thomas married Mary on May 28, 1872.
- It has been said that the families of William Robinson and Thomas Henry Robinson Sr. are not related, however, evidence strongly suggest that they were brothers. Both had parents named William and Margaret, both came from County Carlow, Ireland about the same time in the early 1860s and both purchased adjoining 50 acres in 1875. This seems too coincidental.

Late Thos. Robinson.

After several months' illness Mr. Thomas Robinson died last night at his home at Leitrim, in his 85th year. Born in Ireland, he came to Canada in 1864 and had lived several years in the neighborhood of Hull, later moving to Ottawa and finally taking up farming at Leitrim. He is survived by two sons, W. - William was a Warden at St. James in the 19th century.
- The William Robinson farm consisted of 50 acres and was south of Dun Skipper Drive on the west side of Bank Street. It was adjacent to the Thomas Henry Robinson farm. The farm passed to son Joseph. The farm was in family ownership from 1875 until 1947.
- It has been said that the families of William Robinson and Thomas Henry Robinson Sr. are not related, however, evidence strongly suggest that they were brothers. A short chronicle on the life of my Father, Harold Sheard from my own memories and those he chose to share with me.

By Linda
Anne Sheard

HAROLD SHEARD (April 21, 1913 - March 1, 2001)

My Dad, Harold Sheard was proud of the fact that he was born in Ballina, County Mayo, Ireland, often repeating this piece of his personal history to family members, friends and acquaintances. It was only in 1991 while vacationing with my mother, Greta Viola Sheard (nee McKendry) that Dad returned to see his beloved Ireland for the last time. There was no other country in the world that quite measured up to Ireland in Dad's mind, and he saw a good bit of the world before he left it. Even during his last few years of life, before the ravages of Alzheimer's disease took their toll on his memory banks, Dad would often be seen pouring over his books of Ireland and accompanying maps. His love of Ireland was only matched by his interest in farming, vegetable gardening and cows – which were some of his favourite topics of conversation with friends or strangers.

Dad began his life in Ireland, but most of his childhood memories were in England. I never met my Dad's parents as they both passed on a few years before I was born. Grandfather Albert Sheard as born November 16, 1875 and died in 1947. He hailed from Huddersfield, County York, England. He married my Grandmother Sheard (nee Gertrude Mann) of Saville Town, Dewsbury (born in Thornhill, Yorkshire on June 7, 1877-1949). Their marriage took place at the Parish Church in the Parish of Thornhill Lees in the County of York on July 4, 1898 in the presence of Francis Mann and Harriet Sheard. Gertrude was 22 and Albert was 23 (a Grocer from Huddersfield).

Albert and Gertrude produced a brood of five. Due to Grandfather Sheard's poor health and the outbreak of the First World War, the Sheard clan (sister Mildred Mary born in 1909-1948) and Norah born in 1911-) moved to Ireland sometime before Dad and his twin brother, Donald, were born on April 21, 1913. Dad's date of birth was another piece of personal history of which he was proud to say his was the birth date of the late Queen Elizabeth. Albert, the youngest of the boys, and the sole survivor of the clan, was born in 1918 back in Huddersfield, England.

When Gertrude returned to England and gave birth to Albert in 1919, it seems the whole Sheard clan must have returned as some of Dad's memories were as a 6-year-old attending the Ballina Parochial School and the Ardinerea Protestant Church of England, and later with his brothers Donald and Albert, attending the Deighton Top Boys School (Grades 2 and 3), and then the Bradford Woodroyd Boys School in West Bowling, Bradford, Yorkshire. He completed Grade 8 at age 14 and then attended night school at Marshfields Public School in Bradford for 2 years. While attending the Deighton Top Boy's School, Dad recalled living with one of his father's sisters, Auntie Rose (Rosaline b. 1870), a spinster (one of 5 children Clara, Hetty, Albert and Harriet). The little scar on Dad's left cheek was reminiscent of a boyhood brawl over differing religious backgrounds. Dad having caught the results of what he called a "stoning". It was one of those occasions when Grandmother Sheard got off her "high horse" and paid a visit to Mother Superior. No further incidents of "stoning" occurred after that.

One afternoon in the summer of 1990, I sat down with Dad at his residence on Southgate Drive, in Ottawa South. It was one of those days when he seemed to want to talk about past memories, as this was all he had as time went on, given he suffered from the ravages of Alzheimer's disease. On prompting his memory and taking some shorthand notes, I attempted to record some of Dad's recollections. He spoke of Uncle John McMillan (b. 1864 on his mother's side of the family). He had only brief recollections of his Auntie Florrie (perhaps Jane E Florence Mann of Bradford who married Bob Benson, and produced one child, Victor), and Auntie Clara (perhaps Clarissa Mann b. 1863, who married Hawley, and produced two sons, one named Frank). Dad recalled Aunt Harriet (a Scholar) and Auntie Hettie (a Mender and a Spinster). One of the two died of pernicious anemia or leukemia in Stowes Hall near Huddersfield. Dad also recalled his mother's two sisters, one Aunt Hilda, born in 1880 and married Harry Williamson and produced two sons, Gerald (a Cambridge Graduate and Chemist) and Bryan; and Eleanor (b. 1888 who lived in Bournemouth, England and married Mr. Ford and produced a son). It seems that his mother's father, Francis "Frank" Mann married again in 1894 to Ellen Hiscock (Mary Ann Myers having died in 1892).

* * * * *

On April 19, 1929, at the tender age of 16 years, Dad and his twin brother Donald, departed from Liverpool, England aboard the S.S. Regina, just two days before their birthdays. Grandmother Sheard baked a birthday cake for the boys and saw them off on their long journey across the Atlantic. The boys sailed into Quebec City, and from there travelled by train to Montreal and then on to their destination - Kemptville, Ontario. They worked for local farmers for 9 years under the British Immigration Colonization Association (B.I.C.A.), Albert and his mother, joining them in 1935 via The Laurentic. At first, the boys worked for Ron and Wilbert Templeton on the north side of the River Road and then for George Wiggins until they came to Osgoode Station in 1934 (Moore's farm).

In 1938, just before the outbreak of the Second World War, Dad returned to England where he received $1,000 through the Skinner Trust set aside to assist boys who had proven themselves worthy by the B.I.C.A. With money in hand, he returned to Canada, using the funds as a down payment to purchase the Rice Farm, a 160-acre farm located in a small town in the former Osgoode Township, known as Dalmeny, just southwest of the Nation's Capital. Dad and his brothers Donald and Albert continued farming the land together until Dad married a young Metcalfe girl in 1947 - Greta Viola McKendry. Grandmother Sheard lived with Mom and Dad on the farm for a time after her arrival from England. At Dad's request she moved in with the Andrews (an English family) in Hawville for about a year and a half, until she fell and broke a hip. This sent her to her to the Kemptville Nursing home where she passed on in 1949, the same year my sister Norah Kaye Sheard was born. With Dad now by her side, he and Grandmother Sheard are the only relatives currently buried in the family plot in the Springhill Cemetery on the Dalmeny Road.

Both Uncles Donald and Albert moved to the Toronto area (Port Credit) sometime after the passing of Grandmother Sheard (Gertrude Mann). Uncle Albert, the artist of the family, resided in Port Credit (now known as Mississauga) until his death in 201_; his wife, Aunt Alice having passed on in 1995. Cousins David (Janice) now residing in Ingersoll, Ontario and Anne (Bob) deceased 201_ resided in the Toronto area for most of their younger years. Uncle Donald, who was never steadily employed after farming with his brothers, travelled throughout the United States. He was something of a poet and died in 19__ in Boston, Massachusetts. Uncle Donald loved the bottle and had a few traumatic accidents, likely leading to his early death. Dad did not remain in communication with his sisters, but it is believed Mildred (married to Jack Holden) lived the majority of her life in Liverpool, England. Aunt Norah, who married Keith Westgate of London, England, produced one child, Robyn, and probably resided there most of her life.

Grandfather Sheard remained in England and died in 1948. Apparently Albert and Gertrude did not get on well, and so he never followed his family to Canada. Grandfather Sheard was not close to his family, apparently preferring to remain close to the bottle. One interesting bit of history relates to the relationship between Grandfather Sheard and George Shore of Fagley (a cousin) who just happened to have a cousin named Stan Laurel of the famous Laurel and Hardy British comedy act.

Dad and Uncle Albert have each shared with me their memories of their mother's Bake Shop in England. Uncle Albert's memories were more vivid than Dad's, as he spent time in the shop making pastries with his mother. Dad's recollections were of selling pies, but Uncle Albert had a good deal of hands on experience, that translated into his own culinary skills. No one made chocolate éclairs than Uncle Albert, and absolutely no one can ever hold a candle to Aunt Alice's butter tarts.

Of all his family, Dad spent more time with his youngest brother, Albert and his family. Growing up in Leitrim, there were many family get-togethers at Easter, Thanksgiving and sometimes summer holidays. This tradition of getting together at least once a year survived my Aunt Alice and Uncle Albert, with annual treks to Ottawa by our cousin David and his wife, Janice, and in the early years, their only son, Jason.

All the Harold Sheard clan (except for Kevin Wayne b. 1957 at the Ottawa Civic Hospital) were born in Winchester and resided on the farm in Dalmeny, until its sale in 1957. The farm held fond memories for most of us, as the succeeding owners, Norman and Daisy Robinson, remained friends of the family. Many visits to the farm as a child kept fresh in my mind such events as the Guernsey Farmers picnic, potato sack races, and hide and go seek in the big cedar hedge that provided an easterly wind break to the farm house.

With a move to Leitrim in 1957, Dad secured a position with Pinkerton Security and worked as a security guard out of the Hunt Club Airport. He continued in this capacity until 1962, when he was hired on as part of the Custodial Staff in the House of Commons, aided by former MP Dick Bell (later to become my boss when I worked at Bell, Baker). He worked there until 1978, when he retired at his home in Leitrim. Every summer, until Mom and Dad moved to Strathmore Towers, the Sheards boasted of the finest vegetable garden in all of Leitrim. Neighbours often dropped by for Harold Sheard tomatoes - his specialty.

There were many fond memories of our Leitrim residence - visits with the grandchildren (or “bairns” as Dad would call them). And I will always remember the many long days Mom and Dad put in helping with the building of my first home at 9 Laird Street in Nepean. Without their encouragement and support, I’m sure I would not have been able to make it through those hectic days.

It cannot be said in a few words how a parent affects your life. I am very proud to have been born into this family and will always cherish the memories. I know if Dad could be with us now and have just one more opportunity to remember, he would also be proud. He touched many lives in his lifetime, and made us laugh. Who could forget “Father McGuinty’s Goat” or “Aren’t you glad you came” or all those wild nights fighting for the Toronto Maple Leafs from his favourite lazy boy chair in the “Den”?

Dad may have started out small in life, but he worked hard and raised a brood - survived by his wife, Greta, four children, Norah Kaye, Harold Dwight, Linda Anne and Kevin Wayne and eight grandchildren, David Louks (Norah), Brandun and Kyle Sheard, Katie Mahlovic (Dwight), Pamela and Jordan Anstey (Linda), Sarah and Ashley Sheard (Kevin), and six great grandchildren Austin, Miles and Aubrey (Kyle and Nicole) and Kara and Zack (Katie and Zive) and Ava (Sarah).

I will miss you always and keep your memories close to my heart.

Love

Linda

Eulogy for Georgina Lillian Stewart
December 29, 2008
By Glenn Clark

With the passing of Georgina Lillian Stewart, St. James' Anglican Church, Leitrim not only lost its oldest member but also one of the last direct family links to the beginnings of the Parish.

The Stewart family has been a fixture in Leitrim since at least the 1850s. They were one of the pioneer families of the area. It was for these Irish Protestant families that St. James opened in 1860.

Georgina was born on May 29, 1911 to parents Richard Stewart and Georgina Marshall, and granddaughter of John Stewart and Bridget Powers. She and her four siblings were raised on a modest 50 acre farm on Metcalfe Road, now known as Bank Street, and this shaped Georgina's whole life as did her family's devotion to God and support of the Leitrim church. During her youth, she was encouraged by Rev. Thomas Acres, Aunt Mary Jane and Uncle Thomas to become more involved in the church and she followed in her sister Edith's footsteps and became an organist at St. James and an active member of the Ladies' Guild during the 1930s. In 1940, she was involved in a beautification project when window feigning was added. This involved affixing colourful translucent paper to the church windows to resemble stained glass and this lasted into my childhood. The Stewarts continued their support of the church with sister Edith Smith returning as organist in the 1950s until her premature death in 1957 and with brother Ernest's funding of the restoration of the church stained glass window in the 1970s.

Georgina and Ernest remained on the family farm after their parents' death and they continued a modest, quiet life, mostly keeping to themselves. Neither ever married.

The connection between the Clarks and Stewarts dates back at least to the 1940s when my grandparents, Harold and Caroline purchased the neighbouring farm. They both suffered through the NCC expropriation of their farms and both families remained by renting their farms back from the federal government. My own father assisted Ernest with the paperwork for his purebred Clydesdale horses through the years; something that I continued after my father was gone.

Georgina was blessed with good health and a good memory until only recently. When I embarked on my church history project in 2003, Georgina would always remark when I visited, that she couldn't remember anything. That was until we began to chit chat. Then the stories began to flow. She was always patient with me as I asked her to repeat details until they were clear in my mind. Her generosity in sharing stories was amazing, and equally how these stories dated back to as early as the Spanish Flu Epidemic of 1918/1919. I am saddened that there will be no opportunities to have any more of those chats. It has been those experiences with Georgina that have helped kindle my interest in local history and wishing that I could have had similar chats with my own grandparents.

I am thankful to Georgina for sharing those many stories of the old days that are now etched in my mind and some of which now appear in my book.

Georgina was a modest, strong and honest woman. She was always quite clear about her views on many subjects, something that I always found refreshing. Above all, she provided a window to old rural life that is now almost gone.

Thank you Georgina. What you have done for me is more than you could have possibly imagined. Rest in Peace.
